

Services:

Contributed by Hajera
Wednesday, 12 August 2009
Last Updated Wednesday, 01 August 2012

The Community Disaster Risk Management Organizations (CBDRMOs) have been established for both males and females within local communities for managing DRR related issues.

These community organizations are now aware of DRR related issues as well as the ways how to cope and at least how to use their local capacities for coping against natural hazards and disasters.

Â To ensure effective learning environment OHRD has been trying to share all DRR related information, best practices, the most challenges and problems with other stakeholders.

OHRD is trying to expand all aspects of DRR program such as Capacity Building Activities, working with community regarding DRR, involving other stakeholders like Governmental and other related agencies in this process.